AT WILSON'S MOVE

MALEDICTIONS HURLED AT PRESIDENT OVER REMOVING EMBARGO.

REBELS ARE REJOICING

Shipments Being Rushed of Munitions of War to the Constitutionals.

Mexico City, Feb. 4.—The raising of the embargo on arms by the United States brought down columns of newspaper malediction on the head of President Wilson today. The city, however, gave no evidence of hostility toward American residents. The patrols on the streets were doubled during the night as a precaution, but today there was no sign of apprehension on the part of the Mexican authorities that disorders would occur.

"Drop the Mask." President Wilson has dropped the false mask of the Puritan and declared himself the friend and protector of the rebels. This is the seven column headline in the El Pais over its article on President Wilson's action in raising the embargo on arms and munitions of war.

The newspaper declares that President Wilson's motive, while alleged to be based on high considerations of neutrality, originates really in commercial interests. It continues:

"It was known that European and Japanese factories were turning out war material for the Mexican government. Similar establishments in the United States were dissatisfied and brought pressure to bear on the government at Washington to put an end to the embargo and not block their business."

Prepare Shipments. New Orleans, La., Feb. 4.—Dealers in war materials here today began to prepare supplies for shipments to rebels in northern Mexico as a result of the decision of President Wilson to lift the embargo on shipments of munitions of war into the southern republic. About one hundred men were working at warehouses packing rifles, cartridges and machine guns.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The right to ship arms and ammunition across the American boundary into Mexico through the regular channels of commerce today was extended to the forces of the Huerta government and the constitutionalists in a situation unprecedented since the first outbreak of hostility in that republic in November, 1910.

The status of the arms question is unlike any situation that has hitherto existed though its operation will resemble more closely than anything else the state of affairs existing before the joint resolution of congress of March 14, 1912, went into effect. Under the United States act at that time permitted consignments of arms to pass through at those custom houses held by the regular government, it allowed no shipments through other ports or by revolutionary forces.

The constitutionalists hold most of the custom houses on the Mexican side of the international line. The regular government still occupies such points as Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras, but the constitutionalists now can ship arms without molestation through Brownsville, Texas, to Matamoros, from President Carranza, to Ojinaga, from El Paso to Juarez, as well as at such important points as Douglas and Nogales.

Whether every shipment of arms would have to be preceded by a permit from the government has been the case in the past to the joint resolution of March 4, 1912, heretofore, or whether the proclamation issued by the president would constitute the necessary permit, the government is not recognized ports of entry, was a phase of the situation which, it was expected, would soon be worked out by government officials. The disposition of a large quantity of arms stored in a border depot, destined for the constitutionalists, was decided by officials of the treasury and department of justice.

Aid Newspaper Workers.

Mexico City, Mex., Feb. 4.—Officials of the American embassy were successful last night in their efforts to obtain the release of Miss Victoria Hastings, an American newspaper woman, and Mr. Wallace, a newspaper photographer who had been arrested here. Miss Hastings was ordered to appear today before the authorities.

Senate Committee on Banking and Currency Begin Hearings On Owen Bill in Furthering Lawfulness.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The senate committee on banking and currency today began hearings on the Owen bill, designed to prohibit the use of mails, telegraph and telephone lines for the furtherance of unlawful or harmful stock exchange transactions. Samuel Untermyer of New York was the chief witness in advocacy of the bill. He cited numerous court opinions and recommendations of the house committee which favorably reported a similar bill in the sixty-second congress.

"The only debatable proposition to my mind," said Mr. Untermyer, "is whether there can be effective regulation of the stock exchanges by congress without requiring incorporation and whether if a corporation is necessary, it should be directly under federal law, or whether the congress could enforce its law by prohibiting the use of the mails, telegraphs and telephones and interstate communication to stock exchanges that are not incorporated under the laws of the state in which they are located with state supervision and with such other safeguards as congress may prescribe to permit them to longer remain unregulated and uncontrolled in the realms of reasonable discussion."

"You have hit the bull's eye, but it's the wrong target," said Seth Low, president of the National City Federation, discussing the bill.

The definitions of forbidden combinations proposed, he said, would include labor unions, farmers' co-operative associations, and preliminary rate conferences by railway agents now approved by the interstate commerce commission. Laborers were entitled to combine for better wages or hours, Mr. Low contended, although combinations such as boycotts, which affected interstate trade, should be forbidden. He feared any effort to define the prohibition of the Sherman law would weaken that statute.

Mr. D. Brandeis told the house commerce committee that commercial crimes were an effect, not a cause, and that legislation should prevent offense as it would be difficult to fix the person guilty.

"If an officer of a corporation knew he would be punished he would behave himself," commented Chairman Adamson. "Crush the corporation and the same scoundrel would start another of the same kind."

153,897 Women Qualify to Vote Under New Sucker State Law—Will Cast First Ballot This Month.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Complete unofficial returns today showed that 153,897 Chicago women registered yesterday and qualified as voters under the new Illinois suffrage law. Their first opportunity to exercise the franchise will be on Feb. 24th at the aldermanic primaries.

Women suffrage leaders were elated today. They estimated that fully one-third of the eligible women voters of the city had registered. Their figures are based on approximately 450,000 women in Chicago are eligible to vote. This number equals the total registration of men.

Approximately 550,000 men and women are now qualified to vote at the next city election, according to estimates made today by election officials. This is nearly 83,000 less than the total number of registered voters in New York City. Proportions were made by women leaders, however, that 100,000 additional women will qualify on the next registration day, March 17th.

Banking Committee Congress Plans To Impose Penalties for Speculative Transactions.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Feb. 4.—Curbs on the activities of the New York Stock Exchange were proposed in bills on which the senate banking committee today opened hearings. These measures would impose severe penalties for the use of the mails in connection with the speculative transactions. Regarding the proposed bill, Senator Owen said: "We should like to have it known that we are not actuated by any spirit of hostility. We merely want to frame a bill that will correct the abuses which have been shown in the money trust investigation. We want to protect legitimate business and put an end to the use of the mails in promoting fraudulent speculations. We believe that we will have the sympathy of all honest financiers and business men in the work. The president, we know, is in sympathy with the general proposition for such legislation. James B. Mahon, president of the New York Stock Exchange, headed a delegation which today protested against the legislation. In an interview, Mahon declared, 'Our opposition is based on the rejection by the Hughes commission of the suggestion to incorporate exchanges and the defeat of the incorporation measure at Albany early last fall.'

House Leader Puts Democratic Party on Record Against Equal Rights to Women.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Feb. 4.—The democratic party was formally placed on record today as opposed to national legislation conferring the right of suffrage on women by majority leader Underwood on the floor of the house. Representative Underwood declared he believed with the party that the suffrage question was for the state and not the national government to determine.

Representative Lenroot injected the question in the house debate by asking Mr. Underwood if he would use his influence to have reported a resolution for a suffrage committee, an action which the democratic caucus had refused to take.

"Will the gentleman use his influence to have the resolution reported so that the house may vote on it?" demanded Mr. Lenroot.

"I will not," replied Mr. Underwood, "because I am not in favor of it. If I did I would have my name on it. I am not in favor of it because I am not in favor of it."

Glasgow, Feb. 4.—Concessions to the most sweeping description are to be made to Ulster in connection with the introduction of home rule in Ireland according to today's Glasgow Herald. The concessions, says the newspaper, are to cover practically everything short of exclusion of Ulster from the provisions of the home rule measure. They will be outlined in the course of a statement by Premier Asquith at the re-assembling of parliament.

The announcement made by the Herald is regarded in political circles as particularly significant since it comes with the arrival in Glasgow of David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer to speak on the land question.

Teachers' Association Will Hold Twenty-Fourth Annual Convention at Madison on the 13th and 14th.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the Southern Wisconsin Teachers' Association is to take place at Madison in the high school building on the thirteenth and fourteenth of this month.

The program as arranged in booklet form is divided into twelve sectional divisions. In the grammar grade section, Principal H. C. Buell of the local schools will discuss the subject, "Relating Wisconsin School Work." The meeting will be held in the public library of Madison, as will several other divisional sessions, which cannot be accommodated at the high school.

A full membership is expected and is being urged at the convention by the officers in charge.

STATE FAIR BOARD
ARRANGES THE DATE

Fixes on Second Week of September—Other Business Transacted.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—The Wisconsin state fair will be held Sept. 14-18, according to a vote by the state board of agriculture late Tuesday afternoon. The board had previously chosen as a tentative date the week from August 23 to September 6, but a delegation from northern Wisconsin appeared and presented arguments on behalf of the later date. These speakers were W. W. Schmitt, of Superior, C. L. Lewis of Antigo, and J. W. Finch of Lac du Flambeau. They asserted that north Wisconsin counties are not in position to furnish so early a showing of exhibits on the earlier date as in the middle of September, and their opinion finally prevailed.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

O. G. Newey, of Newey, was re-elected president of the board. A. H. Wilkinson, of Bayfield, was chosen vice-president, and J. C. MacKenzie of Madison was elected secretary. The salary of the secretary was fixed at $2,500, as at present, and a motion prevailed at the meeting to increase it to $3,000. There was also a motion to increase the expenses of the secretary to $500. The motion was carried. The board also voted to authorize the secretary to employ the necessary help for the department.

Mrs. R. L. Wentworth at this meeting retired as permanent secretary of the board, a position she has held efficiently for many years.

PLACE OF MEETING.

Mrs. Adda Howie, of Elm Grove, moved that the board meet in its own rooms at Madison or at the Wisconsin State Hotel. She protested against a policy of "tramping around Milwaukee like gypsies, meeting first at one hotel and then at another." Secretary MacKenzie believed the office should remain at state park throughout the year. Mrs. Howie's motion was voted down. Motion by Dr. G. A. Kletsch to make permanent headquarters in Milwaukee was tabled after much discussion. Objection was made that hotel men and others might construe it as unfriendly if the hotels were used for the meetings, and the opinion was voiced that no such action should be taken.

MATTER OF FINANCES.

The finances of the fair occupied a large place in the discussion. Following a presentation of the situation by Dr. Kletsch and a long debate, it was voted, 8 to 3, to sign a note for $10,000, to be deposited with the state treasurer as collateral for the sum of $15,000 to be subscribed by hotels, business houses and citizens of Milwaukee, as a guarantee fund with which to start the next year's work. The note should be of this arrangement was set forth as being the legislature's refusal to appropriate any money for the fair until Milwaukee county fulfills a condition that it provide a tract of land adjacent to the grounds for an additional. This has not yet been done, and mention large sums contingent upon its fulfillment are tied up and the board has nothing to work with.

MAKING UP DEFICIT.

It was explained that most of the $15,000 subscription had been pledged, several of the Milwaukee hotels signifying their intention to subscribe for $1,000 each. The rest is practically in hand. Assemblyman Everett scored the policy of the board signing notes to take care of deficits, saying that most members were financially unable to take responsibility of the deficit. He proposed that if there should be a deficit this year the citizens have promised to make good, and the board would be fully protected. As the motion was carried, it was adopted that the $10,000 note shall not be signed until the subscription papers show total pledges of $15,000. The vote on the proposal was 8 to 3. Messrs. Everett and Krueger and Mrs. Howie opposing.

Two Can Push Harder Than One

That is literally true when both are pushing in the same direction.

It clearly states the case regarding the new idea of co-operative work between dealer and manufacturer for the pushing of goods advertised in newspapers.

In this case both are pushing in the same direction towards increased sales and better service to the consumer.

It is the most practical merchandizing idea that has been suggested in half a century and is another evidence of the great power peculiar to the newspapers of this country as a sales producing agency.

Advertisers long ago realized that the newspapers were the surest and most efficient advertising medium.

But they did not begin to reach the greatest possibilities of the newspapers until the possibilities of co-operative campaigning became apparent.

This year more articles of national reputation will be advertised in the newspapers than ever before, and in nearly every instance this will be backed up by earnest exploitation on the part of the local merchants.

Any manufacturer or merchant interested in this co-operative advertising work is invited to address the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Bureau of Advertising, World Building, New York City.

Lucius Littauer and His Brother of New York Convicted of Avoiding Duty on Jewels.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Feb. 4.—Lucius M. Littauer, a former congressman, and his brother William, were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to six months in jail today for smuggling.

The court, however, suspended sentence in the matter of the jail penalties.

The brothers were arraigned in the federal district court before Judge Thomas, having pleaded guilty yesterday to two indictments charging smuggling and conspiracy to defraud. They had admitted bringing into this country without paying duty valuable jewels purchased in Venice and intended for gifts for William Littauer's wife.

United States District Attorney Marshall at the time of the pleas urged that the full penalty of the law be imposed and pointed out that the Littauers, as glove manufacturers, had benefited by the protective tariff.

In suspending the jail sentence Judge Thomas warned the offenders that this would not be his policy in future. He explained, however, that he had found it the custom in this district to inflict such penalties. He severely arraigned both defendants and said that the fact that Lucius Littauer had served ten years in congress and the general high standing of the family aggravated rather than mitigated their offense.

Structures Must Be at Least 300 Feet Long to Be Entitled to State Money Says Owen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—State aid will not be granted for the construction of bridges less than three hundred feet in length. This opinion was rendered by Attorney General Walter C. Owen to the state highway department today. Under this opinion aid will be sought for the construction of the bridge at Merrimac, but the scores of requests that are received for state aid in the building of bridges of a lesser length will be ruled out.

In an opinion to Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer, the attorney-general held that no local planning permits shall issue unless the applicant is provided with a state license. He says that a city ordinance requiring plumbers to obtain a state license before they ask for a local license would be valid.

Minister of War and Several Citizens Killed in Concentrated Attack Upon Government Palace.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lima, Peru, Feb. 4.—The president of the republic of Peru, Guillermo Billinghurst, was taken from power today by military revolutionists. Rebels suddenly attacked the presidential palace this morning under the leadership of Col. Denhede.

Gen. Enrique Varetta, premier and minister of war, was killed in the sharp fighting which ensued.

Dr. Augusto Durand, former revolutionary leader, whose arrest was sought by police yesterday, took possession of the palace. He is generally believed he will at once organize a new government.

President Billinghurst was later taken by the rebels as a prisoner to Callao, from which port he will be sent into exile in a foreign country.

The attack on the palace began at half past four in the morning. Thousands of the inhabitants of Lima dashed into the streets alarmed by the firing. Squads of soldiers were ordered to fire volleys into the air in order to prevent the formation of crowds in the streets and by this method they kept the panic stricken people from moving from place to place.

City is Alarmed.

In the vicinity of San Pedro church a civilian bystander was killed by a bullet.

Great alarm prevailed throughout the city. Basks and stores were closed today and private houses barricaded. The street cars, however, began running before noon.

Result of Reform.

Peru's sudden revolutionary trouble is due principally to President Billinghurst's earnest efforts to place the finance of his country on a sound basis. His scheme for doing this involved the strictest economies throughout the public service and naturally provoked unpopularity, particularly among office holders, who saw their salaries and estimates pruned with merciless hand.

At the end of last year congress refused to vote the budget, and president Billinghurst issued a decree declaring that the old estimates would remain in force until the end of 1914.

Petitions from many of the provinces were presented to the president asking for the dissolution of the congress, but all the political parties opposed this step as unconstitutional.

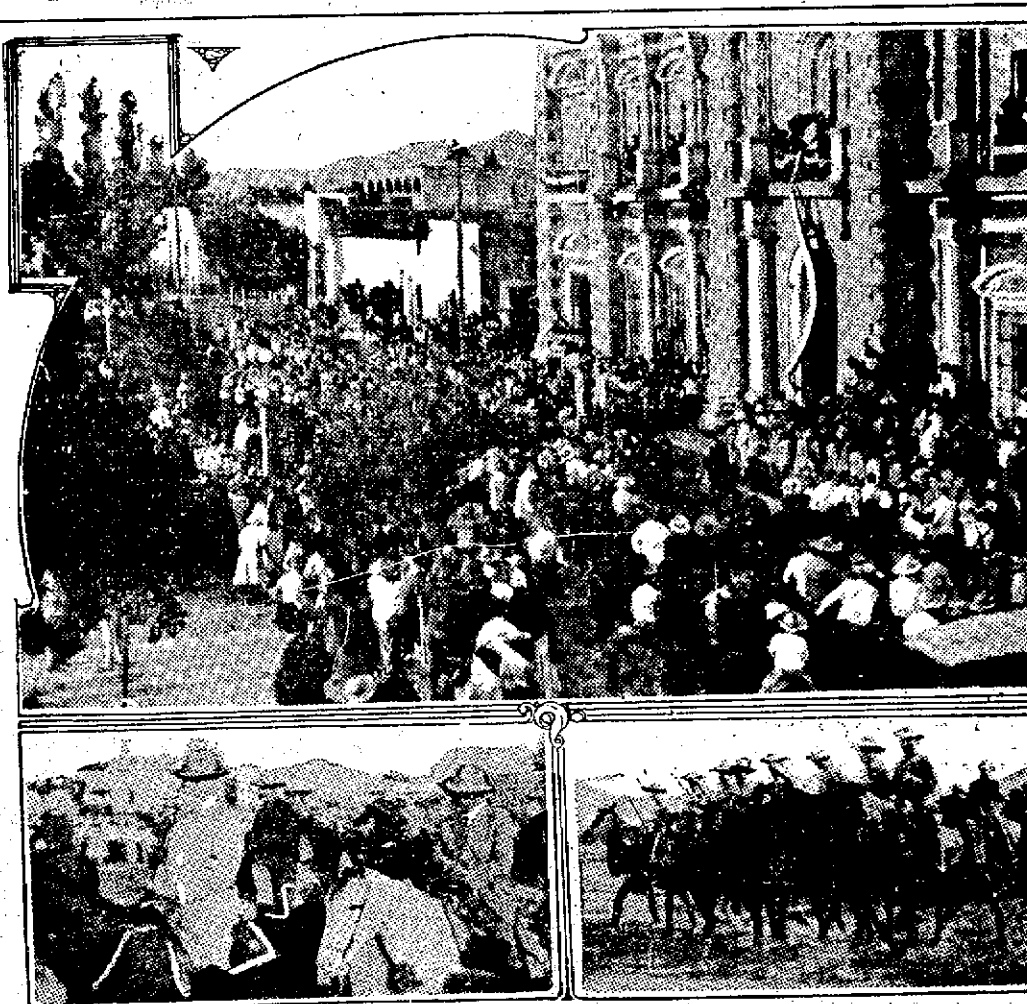

Durand in Power.

President Billinghurst is the son of an Englishman, but was born in Peru. His mother was a Peruvian. He is about 85 years old. In 1886 his father was drowned in a tidal wave. Young Billinghurst was educated in Peruvian schools and was a brilliant scholar. He wrote several books in his early manhood. He took an active part in the war between Peru and Chile and later became mayor of Lima, the capital. He became president in September, 1912. Dr. Augusto Durand, who today seized the government, has led several revolutions in Peru.

BROTHERHOOD HEARS PROGRAM OF MERIT BY METHODIST BOYS

Monthly Meeting and Banquet Held at Cargill M. E. Church Parlor Last Evening.

Before an attendance of over one hundred and forty members of the Cargill M. E. church brotherhood last evening in the church parlors, the boys of the denomination gave a program of unusual excellence, which was thoroughly appreciated.

Under the supervision of George A. Jacobs, the boys have been preparing for the occasion for nearly a month, and the resulting entertainment was considered to be most elaborate, and all the more entitled to praise as the boys themselves were the originators of the scheme.

The new orchestra, composed almost entirely of Methodist young men, gave an interesting program, rendering four selections of merit during the course of the evening. The musicians call themselves the "Eurydice" Orchestra club of Janesville.

The ghost scene from Hamlet, Shakespeare's tragedy, was given by four high school boys, members of Miss Gertrude Zeiminger's literature class. The presentation showed exceptional ability, as the players had previously appeared in this scene before the student body of the high school only last week. Herbert Brownell, as Hamlet; Harry Fuchs as Marcellus; Stewart Pond, as Hamlet; and William Field, as the Ghost, composed the cast.

The following numbers, which concluded the program for the evening, were well delivered:

Vocal duet—Stanley Horwood and Montgomery Johnson.
Vocal solo—Myri Owen.
Chorus—"D'Brother's Big Hosses"—Young Men's club of church.
Vocal solo—Stanley Horwood.
Reading—Wayne Owen.
College jokes—Ray T. Williams.
The banquet which preceded the program, was most elaborately prepared by Mrs. Humphrey's circle.

At the business meeting, Dr. E. E. Loomis was chosen as the Methodist Brotherhood representative in the Janesville Civic League. A vote of thanks was given to the boys, and to Mr. Jacobs, who accomplished such success in originating the program.

MADISON SINGER TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

Knights of Columbus to Hear Noted Tenor at Their Annual Concert and Dance.

For their annual concert and dance on February 11, at Apollo Hall, the Knights of Columbus will be especially fortunate this year in having for their entertainment the noted tenor, Alexander H. East of Madison, who has sung in all parts of this country with great success. He will render a program of musical readings and songs during the course of the evening. He will be assisted at the piano by Mrs. S. C. Bass. The program advanced or this concert by his manager consists of the following:

1. Now Heaven in Pilest Glory Shone.....Haydn (Aria and Recitative from "The Creation")
2. (a) Long Ago Sweetheart Mine.....MacDowell
(b) Talismane.....Schumann
(c) Once I Loved a Maiden.....Faber
(d) Off for Philadelphia.....Haynes
3. Dramatic Reading.
Aux Italiens.....Lytton (Music from "Il Trovatore")
4. (a) Little Winding Road.....Ronald
(b) Fools' Soliloquy.....Tipton
(c) Molly Brannigan.....Stanford
5. Dramatic Reading.
The Raven.....Edgar Allan Poe (Music by Max Heinrich)

This affair will be for the members of the order and their immediate friends and it is expected that it will be more successful than any of the parties held before. The committee engaged in making every plan as complete as possible, so that nothing will be lacking to assure its success.

CANTON GRAND BALL WINS LARGE FAVOR

One Hundred and Fifty Couples Attend. Military Ball Given by Patriarchs Militant.

The twelfth annual grand military ball given at the Assembly hall last evening, under the auspices of Canton Janesville, No. 9, Patriarchs Militant, proved one of the most delightful parties of the year and every one of the three hundred present enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

Proceeding the dance exercises were held conferring the decoration of Chivalry, the highest degree of the order, upon Major F. H. Mason of Fond du Lac. Department Commander F. H. Koebelin conferred the degree, assisted by officers and members of three cantons, in full uniform. After the impressive preliminary steps were taken, Little Miss Corla Ball, planned the jewel of honor on Major Mason and he was decorated with the emblems of chivalry by Mrs. Pearl Boyes, Mrs. Walter Rice, Mrs. George Fox and Mrs. Thurston Mason. Major Mason then passed under the crossed swords and the crossed swords and gave his oath.

Dancing began at 8:30 and under the inspiration of excellent music furnished by Hatch's full orchestra, the dancers held sway until one o'clock in the morning. The contrast of the brilliant uniforms and the pretty gowns of the lady dancers made a delightful scene. The arrangement committee composed of East Commandant William F. Day, Commandant Edward O. Smith, Lieutenant George G. Waterman and Past Commandant W. H. Blair left nothing undone that the most successful in the lodge's history. The reception committee was composed of Canton Janesville No. 9, and ladies. The floor committee, G. G. Waterman, L. M. Mathews, Charles H. Smith and Carl F. Broekhaus, presented a variety of dancing numbers that resulted in praise from all who attended. The hall was profusely decorated with flags and emblems of the organization.

Those from out of the city were: Captain Richard Hoe, grand secretary of the I. O. O. F. of Milwaukee; C. L. Oldenburg and wife, H. G. Waterman and wife, R. C. Snyder and wife of Madison; Col. J. W. Bobbitt and wife of Fond du Lac; J. Christenson and son Harold, C. J. Tanner and wife and Frank Williams of Berlin, Md.; and Captain Charles Luedtke, Captain W. H. Blair, Cavalier G. Luedtke and Carl Stone of Beloit.

OBITUARY

Bernice Garry, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Garry, 1016 North street, passed away at one-thirty o'clock this morning after an illness of two days with inflammation of the stomach. The child was sixteen months old and dearly loved by her parents, who are heart broken over her death. Their sorrow is all the child that Mr. and Mrs. Garry have lost within two years. Besides the parents, a sister, Marie, and a brother, Frank, remain. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

SAYS THINGS HAVE CHANGED AT CAPITAL

John Burroughs, the famous old naturalist, author and poet, is visiting old friends in Washington and renewing acquaintances of fifty years ago. "A half century ago," says Burroughs, "I was a clerk in the treasury department and things have changed greatly since then." In those days I had a one-acre farm where the senate office building now stands and kept a cow which grazed on the common around the capitol.

DEMOCRATS DISCOVER NEW DISTRICT WHERE SALARIES ARE OPEN

All Democrat Senators Are After Appointment From Bryan to Attend Pan-American Conference.

(By Winfield Jones.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Democratic place hunters have discovered another place where they can make raids on the salary lists of the Wilson administration.

The recent discovery of Democratic leaders here that an international conference of the American republics is to be held at Santiago, Chile, next fall, has caused a new onslaught of the spoils-seekers upon the state department. Every Democratic senator has at least one constituent for whom he is demanding of Secretary Bryan an appointment as a member of the American delegation to the Fifth Pan-American Conference.

The pressure being brought to bear on behalf of persons seeking the chance to make the free trip to the Chilean capital with stop-over privileges is said to be so strong as to make it probable that all the American delegates will be chosen on partisan political lines—all will be Democrats.

Among those who look with concern upon the prospects of the American delegation to the conference being composed purely of politically favored are the members of the Latin-American diplomatic corps here. It has become common to discuss among them the pleasure of lavishing elaborate entertainments upon a group of the same kind of Democratic citizens who have been given diplomatic jobs in South and Central America. They are men who never have been south of the Rio Grande, who have not the slightest acquaintance with the Spanish language, and no conception whatever of the conditions in Latin-America, political, social, or economic, and who will know nothing and care less of the purposes and principles of the Pan-American conferences.

The conference this year is considered of more than usual importance, because of the many developments in Latin-America in the last few years, accompanied by a strengthening of the domination of the United States. It is regarded as a foregone conclusion that attempts will be made by some of the Latin-American delegations to throw bombshells into the next conference, in the way of political questions embarrassing to the United States. Only the most adept management upon the part of the American delegation will, in the opinion of experienced diplomats here, save the situation for the United States.

Mr. Bryan, as chairman of the program committee, already has permitted the Latin-American delegates to advance a proposition which has been the ambition of some of the smaller republics for many years. The program as agreed upon contains the declaration of principle for adoption, that it shall be a principle of policy among the American republics that no alien in any of the republics shall have other rights or other resources than those enjoyed by the citizens thereof.

This means that the small republics are seeking to commit the United States to the principle that American citizens shall not have the privilege of appealing to the Washington government in case of controversies in these republics. It is predicted that questions even more embarrassing will be injected into the conference, and passed over the vote of the United States, unless the greatest care is exercised in the selection of the American delegation.

From the incidents related in connection with the effort of Democrats in Washington to get positions on the American delegation for their proteges, the applicants are not exceptionally qualified. One man admitted he wanted to go because his wife had heard that delegates to the conferences always were given free boxes at one opera in South America. Another applicant said he would like to go to Santiago de Chile, because he understood that it was the capital of Argentina and a most interesting city. A third said that he felt it his duty to inform himself about the inhabitants of the "black republics," and that he thought he could well represent the United States and acquire information at the same time.

APPOINT MISS TATE A STATE INSPECTOR

Former Field Secretary of Anti-Tuberculosis Society to Serve Under Board of Control.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—Edythe L. M. Tate, former field secretary of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, has been appointed by the state board of control as one of its inspectors. She will assume her new duties at once. Miss Tate appeared before the legislature at the last session to urge the passage of measures to lessen the spread of tuberculosis in the state.

The board also decided to employ a superintendent of farms for the state institutions. The position has not been filled. The position will be filled by a practical as well as a theoretical farmer, who will go from one institution to another and assist in bringing up the farms to the highest point of efficiency.

CATARRH SUFFERERS

Get Immediate and Effective Relief by Using Hyomel.

Hyomel is nature's true remedy for catarrh. There is no stomach dosing you breathe it.

When using this treatment, you breathe healing balsams and effectively reach the most remote air cells of the throat, nose and lungs, the catarrhal germs are destroyed—quick and sure relief results.

Hyomel often restores health to chronic cases that had given up all hope of recovery. Its best action is at the start of the disease when the breath is becoming offensive, and constant sniffing, discharges from the nose, droppings in the throat, or that choked up feeling begin to make life a burden. At the first symptom of catarrhal trouble, surely use Hyomel. Ask Smith Drug Co. for the complete outfit, $1.00. They will refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

Sport Snap Shots

Down in Gotham they are beginning to hail Charlie White as the bright particular star of the fight game in that neck of the woods. For some few years Packey McFarland was the real little favorite around Manhattan and for a long while he was the one lad to draw crowds in our largest city. But Packey's standing with Gotham fight fans is no longer what it was and at present it seems that Charlie White is to succeed him. Nate Lewis, White's manager, terms it "belated recognition of talent." He that as it may, it's a pipe that Charlie is coming in for his quota of flonzing down along Broadway. New Yorkers are eager to see Charlie win his way to the bay leaves and his recent victory over Jimmy Duffy, regarded as a terror in the East, has won a lot of backing for Charlie.

The report that Tommy Burns had cleaned up the arena with a promising unknown white hope not long ago out in California, has been followed by a more persistent rumor that the "unknown" Tommy fought was really a necktie clerk in haberdasher's store. Also it has been declared by some that the store was owned by Burns and that the person he fought was one of his hirlings and had been "fixed" so that Tommy might make some sort of a showing. Disregarding entirely the possibility of truth in either of these it must be said that Burns' ring reputation will not benefit a great deal as a result. Tommy's chances of fighting Gunboat Smith are seen to be appreciably thinner.

Joe Choynski, the illustrious heavyweight of other days, tells that one of the hardest fights he ever refereed was between Tommy Ryan and "Mysterious" Billy Smith at Minneapolis in 1894. Choynski after quitting active fighting acquired quite a rep as a referee and his words merit attention in ring affairs. "Smith and Ryan fought with four-ounce mitts for a mighty big purse with a winner's end and loser's end," says Joe, "and both were in wonderful shape and very evenly matched. And refereeing the bout proved the hardest thing I had ever undertaken. Such a fight as they put up would cause a present-day fight fan to go into a nervous decline. They fought fiercely for twenty rounds, too to toe, and by better strategy and generalship Ryan managed to nose out a victory. Smith landed many a hard one, but Ryan was well able to take the worst sort of punishment and he came right back with the same sort of stuff. Ryan was a wonder. A master of ring tactics, a mighty clever boxer, and he heaved an awful wallop. But the refereeing of the bout was a hard little stint and I was rather relieved when the thing was over."

ENTHUSIASM SHOWN AS RESULT OF BIG GAMES LAST WEEK

Madison, Fond du Lac, La Crosse and Janesville Appear as Strongest Quintets in Wisconsin.

Scores during the past week, in games played by high school quintets, who are battling with fever heat, for the settling of another state championship, are the most interesting of any, resulting from conflicts, yet played this season. Out of the big dope sheet, on which appears perhaps fifty or more high school fives, who are still in the race, Madison, Fond du Lac, La Crosse and Janesville look like the strongest quartet of teams that Wisconsin can boast of at the present writing. However, by another week other attitudes may be taken relative to the exceptional lives who are making good.

The past week has solved many problems in the title race, as well as changing almost completely conditions which previously were heavily placed on the doubtful column, and far from evident of being carried out. The La Crosse highs engaged in a fierce struggle with their city rivals, the Normals. The score at the close of the contest, which by the way, was stopped by the crowd, and the referee mobbed, stood 40 to 17 in favor of the high school five. Garder scored five baskets, Weisse was high scorer, with four fingers, and eight free throws. The game was a good practice one for the highs, who entered in a battle with Madison at the Capitol City on Saturday night of this week.

Montello highs are boasting of their tenth straight victory, being victorious over Big High Friday, by a 60 to 6 score. They will make a strong bid for entering the tournament from their section this spring, and have already asked to be considered in the elimination contests.

Marshfield are positive of being one of the Badgerdom fives who will enter for laurels in the spring tourney. They easily nosed out the Grand Rapids five Friday, although the score was close at the finish. The final count was 18 to 15, and the game was played at Grand Rapids.

In the closest game of the week, Wausau defeated Antigo on the latter's floor, 15 to 14, and made her way more clear in the tourney in March. Wausau underestimated Antigo's strength, and were really outclassed for a time, luck favoring them at the finish.

In a romp-away, Madison highs swamped Portage on the former's floor Friday night, by a score of 46 to 6. As Portage was considered somewhat weak, the score set by the Capitol City boys does not throw a scare into other basketball circles, as a surprise. Madison play a Crosse on the Capitol City's floor Saturday night of this week, and then they come to Janesville for a game with the Bower City aspirants.

In the Portage game, Fuller and Cramer, at guards, were the stars of the contest. They had Portage to one lone basket that shot coming in the first fifteen seconds of play.

Menominee easily disposed of Glenwood City last Friday, by the score of 21 to 25. They are feared in their section by all teams but when clesed with Madison and others, they are considered a weaker five. They are certain of making the tournament, unless some ill luck faces them.

The most sensational struggle of the week was the victory acquired by Fond du Lac over the Oshkosh highs at Fond du Lac. The final score was 35 to 13. The Fondys are all experienced, and are light and fast. They have four of last year's regulars back this year, and it is no telling what their little men will do in the race.

Oshkosh high school may not experience a place in the Appleton tournament this spring from the present outlook in the material at the northern school. The lumberjacks have lost practically an entire five, which if playing together this year, would make strong opposition for Wisconsin's leading competitors. The graduation of Simpson, Dale, Hixby, Wilson and Webster, leaves the school in a dilemma which will be hard to mend. If they do land a place in the spring state tourney, a miracle will have been performed by Coach Mutch, who sees nothing but doom ahead in his efforts to round out a championship quintet.

Tomah eliminated Sparta last Friday, by defeating them 22 to 11. The game was well played. Sparta may be given another chance Friday against Baraboo. They have already defeated Baraboo once, and consequently, both these teams have a slim chance in the title race.

Janesville, last year's Wisconsin champions, are hitting a 1,000 clip toward Appleton. They expect to arrive at the tournament earlier this year than last, for last Friday they whalloped Stoughton, on the latter's floor, 47 to 22. The game was featured by Hemming's basket shooting. He found the net for eleven shots, all counting. Edgerton are the Bower City's foes for this week, and then "defeat Madison" and make the way clear from the southern section, is the slogan for February 13th.

An unknown school, never heard of before in basketball circles, are now considering themselves as real champions. This quintet hail from Weyauwega, a high school, which five defeated Manawa highs last Saturday night, 50 to 14. Weyauwega have won four straight games, winning from Oshkosh, Shiocton and New London fives previously.

Appleton highs continue to win, and make themselves known. Saturday night they whalloped Menasha high school five by a 39 to 19 count. The Appleton fives are looking like first-class tournament material is the opinion of northern coaches and critics.

On London.
Tourist (in London): "It certainly took a bunch of bobbies to arrest that silk-hatted guy! What did he do?"
Cabby: "Why, that bleedin' blitherer hain't pinched. 'E's a heiment statesman, goin' to touchin'—Judge."

TEAM WILL BE KEPT BUSY FOR SOMETIME

Coach Curtis Sees Many Hard Contests Scheduled in Addition to Three Possible Tournaments.

That Coach Curtis and his squad of basketballers will be kept busy for the next two months is evident from the present conditions which face the local mentor.

Not only is there a strong schedule of games for the local tusslers to close with a clean slate, but there is a possibility of the squad playing in three tournaments. Curtis is anxious that his team enter all meets, but at present the outlook is dubious for such a condition to prevail.

The Beloit meet on March 5th to 7th inclusive will give the locals a stiff program of games, possibly four or five in two days. Later in the month the Milton College tourney at Milton would tender the locals more hard work, while the state tournament at Appleton, March 26th to 28th inclusive, would undoubtedly finish them. The men on the squad do not care whether they engage in the Milton and Beloit meets or not, and should they have a clean slate of victories by the first of March they may not do so. If they are, however, eliminated in the race for state honors, then they may consider the Beloit proposition, with a slight chance of entering at Milton.

The team are engaged in light drill this week, resorting more to the technique principles of the game, some which they have not yet mastered. The Edgerton contest is not biding them much, and they expect as easy a victory as the one they administered to Stoughton last Friday.

BELOIT TOURNAMENT DATES ARE ISSUED

College Management Sets March Fifth, Sixth and Seventh as Days for "Basketball Meet."

The annual Beloit College basketball tournament for Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois high school quintets will be held at the Smith gymnasium, Beloit, March 5th, 6th and 7th. The interscholastic meet this year is going to be run right, say the Beloit men, as it must be in order that the college might make the tourney a permanent yearly affair. Nine fives were represented in the tourney last spring, and Janesville were easy winners, defeating Baraboo on the last night 45 to 20, carrying off first honors. Baraboo came second and Beloit third. The other teams represented were Delavan, Harvard, Woodstock, Evansville, Kenosha and Lake Geneva.

Amusements

THE APOLLO.
Six reels of the feature picture, "Arizona," together with three vaudeville acts, gave the audience at the Apollo last night an unusually long show. The pictures were good for the play is a popular one and was a strong favorite for years before it was adapted to motion pictures. The scenes are laid in and about a western army post, and of course, the threads of a love story are woven through it. Tonight will be the last time it will be shown here.

YOU AND WE.

"You are a business man;
We are educators.
You know your business;
We know our business.
You develop natural resources;
We develop human resources.
You improve machinery;
We improve men.
You create commercial values;
We create human values.
You make things;
We say things.
You make people buy;
That is your business.
We make people think;
That is our business.
Why not help each other?
Let's work together!"

These short, terse epigrams are from the pen of Wm. J. H. Boetcker, who represents the National Inside Association of America, "an organization formed to institute fundamental reforms in the study and promulgation of sound principles and correct methods concerning the development of human resources; to solve the problem of the high cost of living by right living; to promulgate correct principles of morality and living; to institute fundamental principles of reform to the study of sound principles and correct methods as to labor and capital, and any other questions of social and economic importance."

Mr. Boetcker spoke to two or three audiences on Sunday, and also addressed the Commercial club at their annual banquet on Monday evening.
Those who were fortunate in hearing his message realized that he was very much in earnest, and were also impressed with the importance of the work in which he is engaged.

He says, "there are four sides to a square—three sides besides our own—and then the inside." He maintains that the development of human resources must be from the inside, and that is the work of his association, which he seeks to popularize until it becomes nation-wide. He will return to Janesville later and address a mass meeting. This is same reformer, and entitled to every encouragement.

ANOTHER MENACE.

Matters in the Balkan peninsula have not by any means been adjusted as yet. Bulgaria and Greece, while allies in the war against the Turks, fey at each other's throats as soon
as the common enemy was defeated, while Serbia jumped from a tiny kingdom into a world power. Now comes the question of the Turkish control of the Aegean. In discussing this question an exchange says:

"The appointment of Enver Pasha
as minister of war at the Sublime Porte marks at once the complete reassertion of the dominion of the committee, and the revival of the German influence, paramount in the consulate of Marshal von Bieberstein. Enver Pasha is a Muhammadan of the Muhammadans. To him the re-establishment of the prestige of the Crescent is a sacred trust. He is, however, above all a soldier. He understands little of the slow and difficult process of building up a nation by fostering commerce and rigorous economy. His argument is the sword. And having seen that argument triumphantly successful when he rode at the head of the re-organized Turkish battalions from Stambul to Adrianople, he is longing to repeat the victory by a landing in Chios or Mitylene.
"It must frankly be admitted that from a purely Turkish standpoint

there is much to be said for the reconquest of the islands. The occupation of Imbros and Tenedos by another power threatens the very passage of the Dardanelles. Chios, Mitylene and Samos held by an enemy are not only a constant danger to the great port of Smyrna, but a strategical weakness in the defense of the coast of Asia Minor. No country would like to have the naval bases of even a friendly power within a few miles of its coasts, and so Enver Pasha has decided that the islands must be retaken.

"This is all very well, but the islands are not occupied by Greece,
but are peopled by perhaps the purest Greek population in the world. So Enver Pasha openly prepares his battalions in Anatolia, and buys dreadnoughts in England. The reply of Greece is to strengthen her position in the islands and to negotiate in turn for more dreadnoughts. It is just here that Greece has the advantage.
Turkey cannot well pay for the one ship she has acquired, whereas Greece can probably pay for several. Turkey by an immense effort, and by repudi-ating her financial understanding with the powers, puts down $2,000,000 in London. Greece replies with a loan for $20,000,000. If Turkey has obtained the help of a German general at the expense of the rupture of her friendly relations with St. Petersburg, Greece has secured the services of a British admiral without any corresponding rupture. Finally, if Turkey relies on the assistance of Bulgaria, Bulgaria may find herself checkmated by Roumania and Serbia, whereas the advance of the Russians into Armenia will meet with no opposition at all. The checkmate of Adrianople, in short, is not likely to be repeated in the Aegean, because M. Venizelos is a better chess player than Enver Pasha."

There is a question whether the fireless cooker ordered from a local factory by a resident of the Fiji Islands is to be used for the purpose of making a special dish of some poor missionary or to promote civilization by introducing American pork and beans.

One hundred and thirty thousand women registered in Chicago yester-

the new Illinois suffrage law and showed that the women appreciated
the privileges they obtained.

The fight for the democratic nomination for governor is on. The appearance of papers endorsing the candidacy of Judge Karel are being signed liberally here and by republicans and democrats alike; in fact they have one paper made out to be signed by republicans.

Rockford is going to have another
"wet" and "dry" campaign this spring.
The indications are that the women's vote in the Illinois city will continue it in the dry column despite all the efforts of the "wets."

The sunny south appeals to the ball

The Oshkosh Northwestern says:
"The Northwestern thus far has paid little attention to the reports that another paper is to be started in Oshkosh, but a rumor of this kind has been so persistently circulated of late that a word of explanation may be in order. It is true, we are reliably informed, that certain persons have been quietly investigating the chances for launching another daily paper here,
but this has happened several times in the past and invariably the conclusion reached has been that there was neither room, or a call, for another paper. In the present instance, also, we understand little encouragement has been offered the ambitious promoters. On the other hand, prominent citizens have declined to either support or become identified with the movement, and prominent advertisers have refused point blank to divide their patronage, without which, of course, a new paper would soon starve to death. One merchant plainly summed up the case in a nutshell
when he said: 'What possible advantage can be gained by having another service that is satisfactory? It would be like supporting two telephone systems where one is enough, increasing the cost to the public, yet probably resulting in inferior service by both systems.

"For such complimentary references to the services performed by The Northwestern the latter is deeply appreciative, and it merely remains to be added that it is the aim and an-nition of this paper to live up to this reputation and deserve it. The Northwestern also strives to furnish a good reliable and thoroughly up-to-date newspaper, broad minded and liberal in every respect, zealous for the promotion of local interests and the public welfare, and strictly impartial and unprejudiced as between private interests. So long as it continues this policy, moreover, it feels it has no cause to worry, even though misguided ambition induces someone to 'butt into' the game. Such experiments are usually costly and not always successful, and perhaps there is something propaganda in the coming of the Milwaukee Journal, which says:

"The Appleton Post well says that the scheme to start a new paper at Oshkosh in opposition to the Northwestern is a scheme from which the valiant newspaper man might be excused from equalling." As for "influential citizens" not agreeing with the political course of The Northwestern, why not put it the other way, that The Northwestern does not agree with the political course of influential citizens.
Wouldn't The Post trust the political judgment of an editor trained in public matters rather than the average "influential citizen" whose interest in public affairs is often his own personal interest? A new paper? It will be another case of fools and their money soon parted. The journalistic graveyard of Wisconsin is filled with victims of the kind of folly which is said to have seized upon some of Oshkosh."

FEDERAL DETECTIVES CHECKING BAD MONEY

Federal Secret Service Department
Does Effective Work in Purifying
National Currency.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, Feb. 4.—Although the work of the great secret service department maintained by the United States government for the checking of the growth of counterfeit money has been hampered by modern inventions tending to make spurious currency almost perfect, the authorities declare that there is less bad money in circulation at the present time than for some years.

Nobody knows just how much bad money is in circulation, for obviously a perfect counterfeit could never be detected. But perfection is as scarce among bad bills as it is among good men, and after close tabulations covering a period of a year the United States Secret Service has come to the conclusion that not more than $3 in every $100,000 of silver nor more than $1 in every $200,000 of bills is spurious.

To the Secret Service office there goes eventually every piece of counterfeit money discovered. It is the great purifying plant of the stream of our national currency, though it is only one of its vital functions. The appearance of a new counterfeit is to the Secret Service what the clang of the gong is to a fire department. No matter how astute the counterfeiter,
he cannot carry his operations far
until the service "bags" him on him,
his methods, accomplishments, and general characteristics, and his apprehension is usually but a matter of days.

There is an erroneous idea, very generally held, that paper money is printed on paper manufactured by a secret process which is carefully guarded from the public. The truth is that almost any paper house could make the identical paper were it not prohibited by law from doing so. The matter of getting the silk fibres into the fabric is comparatively simple,
and the appearance of these tiny sured, often cleverly imitated with a fine pen, not infrequently induces the inexperienced to accept a counterfeit bill of which they are suspicious.

With the development of photo-engraving the shady art of counterfeiting received a big impetus. Prior to that industry only experts could hope to produce bills that would pass a casual inspection. And as a man's handwork always expressed his individuality the "thumb print" of every counterfeiter was literally on every bill he put out.

Today, however, bills may be duplicated by a purely mechanical process.

HEARING ON "TAP LINES."

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, Feb. 4.—Reopening of the "tap line cases" for further hearing and argument on the fundamental questions involved was made today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, as the result of closing decisions of the commerce court against the Commission's previous rulings. The case involves the right of railroads and industrial corporations to main-

times past has been used as a convenient method of granting rebates to shippers. The court held that the In-

SUSTAINS VALIDITY OF FRANCHISE LAW

State Supreme Court Passes Favorably on Indeterminate Permit Statute.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—The effect of the decision of the supreme court in passing on the controversy between the Wisconsin Light, Heat and Traction company and the city of Menasha is to sustain the validity of the law passed at the 1911 session of the legislature, making all franchises in the state indeterminate permits. This is the view of Chairman John H. Roemer of the Wisconsin railroad commission.
This decision is of great importance as it sustains the law amending all franchises in the state and making them indeterminate permits, said Mr. Roemer today. "The first law enacted by the legislature on this subject made it optional with existing utilities to receive indeterminate permits. As very few corporations were able to surrender, because they would not lose the benefit of their bond holders, the legislature in 1911 amended all franchises of public utilities in the state, making their franchises indeterminate permits. The decision in the Menasha case sustains the validity of that law."
Although thirteen cities of the state have purchased the properties of public utilities under the indeterminate permit law, the new law is not in effect until the legislature voluntarily takes out an indeterminate permit. The latter law has some times been questioned, but the decision of the court clarifies the situation.

Gazette Will Receive Contributions of Cash, Clothing, Household Utensils and Furniture.

Four little tots, the oldest a boy of eleven, the youngest a baby girl of three, a hard working mother and wife and a hard working father, today received a hard working neighbor, bereft of everything except what few clothes they managed to save, when their little home, a mile south of the Institute for the Blind, and the ground they were morning about five-thirty destroying everything and leaving them destitute.
Frank Hopkins, his wife, his two boys, one eleven and one five, two little girls, seven and three, came to Wisconsin from Illinois last fall and rented the little farm of F. W. Chapin, planning to farm it during the coming season. Meanwhile Mr. Hopkins found work in one of the tobacco warehouses and they settled down in the one story and a half frame structure with a wing for the winter.
In order that her husband reach his work in time Mrs. Hopkins had to get up five and prepare his breakfast. This morning she followed the usual custom and when it was ready called her husband. It was not until then that she discovered the smoke coming from the house was in flames, caught evidently from a defective pipe from the kitchen stove.

So rapid was the spread of the flames that Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins had but time to grasp the children from their beds, wrap them in a few blankets, grab a handful of clothes and rush into the open. Within a few seconds later the whole structure was a mass of flames and the family was left homeless and without a roof over their heads.

Neighbors quickly rallied to their assistance and they were given shelter and care. They are in need of everything that goes to make up a home. The children need clothing at once, as do the parents. They need household furniture to start in housekeeping again when a new home can be found. They need stoves, kitchen utensils, in fact everything for the home.

Peripatetic Hooper of the state school for the blind has interested himself in the case and has asked that the Gazette receive contributions of cash and other necessities. He will take the responsibility of seeing that the money is used for the necessities. It is a cause worthy of immediate consideration and contributions are earnestly solicited. Money can be left with the bookkeeper at the Gazette office or sent to the necessities will be received at this office.

The family have lost everything. The father has his team, his farm utensils with which to start in housekeeping, but otherwise his savings of a lifetime were wiped out in a few brief minutes this morning. The little children mourn the loss of their toys, their dolls and cherished things. Their mother is frightened and clinging to their mother in fear while the father is bravely facing the situation and preparing to start life again.

It is a time for liberal contributions and the public is invited to help the fatherless, cash, clothing or household utensils.

George Irvin Introduces New Product to Local Smokers. Mr. George Irvin, proprietor of the Smoke Shop, and who has been in the cigar business for over 15 years has placed with the local cigar dealers of this city a new cigar, his own origination developed after much experimentation. The new cigar will be marketed under the name of "Big George." The cigar is made of full length Spanish filler and is wrapped in genuine Connecticut Broad Leaf. It is a mild, delicious smoke intended to come as close as possible to imitating the average taste. A list of the dealer's names where this cigar may be obtained appears on Page 2 of this issue. FLATTERING REPORT
ON CITY'S HEALTH

Not One Case of Contagious Disease Among School Children in Month of January.

Jansville continues to be the most healthful city of its size in the state, according to the report of City Health Officer S. B. Buckmaster for the month of January, which was submitted at the weekly session of the council Tuesday afternoon. Not one case of contagious disease among school children is reported for the period, and the quarantine cases which numbered four were among infants. One case of whooping cough, two of chicken-pox and one of scarlet fever were reported.

The health officer further reported that there had been no cases of tuberculosis in the city at the present time. Of the nineteen deaths during January, five were of persons over seventy years of age, and three of children under one year. Seven marriages, eight births and eight accidents are recorded.

According to the report presented by Chief of Police Elnen Ransom during the month of January, there were thirty-one arrests by the department, twenty-eight of which were brought into court, while the remaining three prisoners were discharged from the chief of police's custody.

The total for the past month in the municipal court amounted to $308.79. Other statistics show that the fines amounted to $295, the court fees amounted to $11.29, and the city marshal's fees total $2.50.

TAX RATE DECREASE
UNDER COMMISSION

City Rate Drops From $14.15 Per Thousand Valuation in 1911 to $10.25 in 1913.

Indicating the economy of the commission form of government as it is being operated in Jansville the decline in the city tax rate in the past several years is conclusive.

The rate in 1911, the last year of the old board of aldermen, was $14.15 for one thousand dollars, in 1912, the first year under the commission, the city rate was $10.33, and for this year the city rate was $10.25, a decrease of $3.90.

FIND THAT LODGER
AT POLICE STATION
HAS THE SMALL-POX

Wanderer from Beloit Spends Night at City Lock-up and Exposes a Dozen Other Lodgers.

The city hall was not placed under quarantine today, but the lock-up was transformed into a temporary hospital for the vaccination of a dozen lodgers who were exposed to small pox after spending the night in the cell rooms with a wanderer from Beloit who it was found was afflicted with the disease.

The patient was transferred to the detention hospital, where he will receive treatment.

The small pox victim visited the police station early last evening and asked to be allowed to spend the night in the lock-up. He was shut in the cell room before it was definitely determined that he was afflicted with the disease.

The physicians were called later in the evening when the seriousness of the situation became apparent and an examination left no doubt as to the nature of the man's malady.

It was too late then to transfer him to the detention hospital and as other lodgers had already been exposed, City Health Officer S. B. Buckmaster ordered that no one else be allowed to enter the cell rooms.

This morning Mr. Buckmaster had charge of the limitation of the lock-up, but that evening twelve men who were exposed. Each man, after he was treated, was required to take off his clothes which were thoroughly fumigated and every precaution taken to prevent the disease from spreading today and will be given strict orders by the police to leave the city.

Several men who were shut up for drunkenness, will be allowed to return to their homes without the formality of appearing in Judge Maxwell's court, as it is thought that they had paid a rigorous enough penalty.

The condition of the patient, while not serious, is quite unfavorable enough to spread the contagion. Mr. Buckmaster took every precaution to keep the small pox out of the lock-up and there is no need for fear of an epidemic, although vaccination is advisable according to physicians, in view of the prevalence of the disease in Beloit and the southern part of the county. Several patients are under quarantine at Clinton and it is reported that Milton has one or two suspicious cases.

TO CROWN HER LOVE

By EMILY BEE.

They had celebrated together the advent of each New Year since the first year of their acquaintance. That meant five celebrations. And each had ended with a declaration from him which she parried, and a question from him to which she would not give definite answer.

That night they sat in the glittering restaurant, part of the noisy hilarious crowd, and yet by their sincerity and simplicity differentiated from that crowd.

With the rest of the crowd they ate, drank and laughed.

A bell struck, and at the sound the great noisy throng hushed suddenly, voluntarily, expectantly. A distant door opened and a silken silvery page led in a rosy child, typifying the New Year. A thousand climes rang out. The diners sprang to their feet, and the scene in the restaurant became pandemonium. She alone was silent, with a fixed smile. As her escort joined those about them in the cry of Happy New Year! she only smiled and smiled. Had she emitted a single sound, it would have been a cry.

The first confusion over, they settled in their chairs again. Her eyes were fixed upon her plate. Before raising them she must be sure that they were veiled. Last year he had seized this moment to speak to her. This year—could she live through this year?

He was relating a story, doubtless amusing. With an effort she gave him attention. Something was wrong. He no longer cared. Could she keep him from knowing that she did, that after all, she did? He would not speak.

Rather abruptly he leaned back, as if he, too, wearied of the face they played. "Aren't you bored with this, Alice? It only lasts—so long. Let's go."

She nodded and rose. He held her wrap, and as she slipped into its loose warm folds, his fingers touched her shoulder. She could feel the warm blood rise to that touch, and miserably conscious, she fastened her wrap without a glance in his direction. He picked up her white gloves and handed them to her. She observed, with dull surprise, that his hand was a bit unsteady. In a flash she recollected—she was almost positive of it—that the fingers touching her shoulder had trembled. She looked up at him swiftly, caught him off guard, and read the bitterness in his eyes.

Threading her way before him, through lines of colorful sparkling tables, the distance to the door seemed interminably long. She must verify that glimpse into his soul. If she had seen aright, then he still cared. It was only indifference that proved the death of love.

As the cold air of the street smote them, they breathed deeply of its freshness. "Let's walk," he said.

Again she only nodded. "Now," she thought, "Now, perhaps he will speak." But they walked on in silence, a silence almost unbearable to both of them. It was after they had traveled many blocks, passed out of the district of garish merry-making, were approaching the threshold at which they must part, that she took her fate in her hands.

"Tonight," she said, endeavoring to speak casually, lightly, "we have omitted a part of our ancient and honorable formula."

"Since it is only a formula," he said, "it is better omitted. The times are against formalism."

"But the occasion is not complete without it," she persisted, with a soft laugh, the while her eyes were blank with pain.

"It is not only complete, but finished," he said.

They walked on. She was praying for strength to carry her through the little distance remaining, until—until the end. So he thought she had trifled with him! He would not understand. A wild determination came to her. He should understand! As though they had both been speaking frankly, she said, "I will answer your words of last year, and the year before, and years before. I could not give myself to you while I was a failure. I should have been less worth winning. I have succeeded now. The commission has come to me, to make the mural paintings for the New Center. It will be in the papers tomorrow. You are the only one who knows."

"Then you are worth winning now?" he asked calmly.

"Now," she said to herself, "my heart will surely break."

"It is only when you love that you are worth winning. When you love, and when I love you."

"Now," she said to herself, "my heart is surely broken. It does not matter what I say now." To him she said, in a voice like death, "I understand. It is too late."

"I am bitter against you," he said. "I am sorry. It is hard for a man to forgive the woman who does not want him, the woman who prefers success to love."

"But I am not that woman," she said, throwing what was left of her pride to the four winds.

He asked, scarcely above his breath: "Do you mean—that you care—for love—my love?"

And now she would not answer. They had reached the threshold of their parting. They passed over it and into the dimly lighted, deserted hall.

He gathered her into his arms. "I wanted success," she whispered, "only—to crown my love."

FAMOUS STREETS

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Strand."

THE STRAND.
"The Strand" is the name borne for a brief distance of London's most famous and important street.

However, the casual tourist will not recognize this street by its name if he met it anywhere else. London streets change their names more frequently than American addresses, and the Strand travels under a dozen aliases.

It begins as Cannon street, and after dodging around St. Paul's cathedral becomes Ludgate Hill. A few blocks west it becomes confluent at Ludgate circle, and changes its name to Fleet street. Without warning, it then becomes the Strand, and sweeps majestically along for half a mile or more.

It is congested by motor buses and churches, both of which occupy the middle of the street on the slightest provocation, though the churches are less dangerous than the motor buses, as they have refused to budge for hundreds of years.

Presently the Strand reaches Trafalgar square, at which point it explodes into almost a dozen great streets, the pieces of which have never been satisfactorily collected by any one, but a native of the city.

There is a suspicion that "Pleasilly" is really the Strand in disguise, and that after traveling as Pleasilly it has been changed to the city as Kensington road, but this is disputed.

Anyhow the Strand is an extremely busy street under any and all of its names. It is an eighteen-hours-a-day riot of busses, taxicabs and trucks, being one of the stow streets by which east Londoners can get to West London and vice versa. It is so crowded that it is gradually being enlarged to take care of the great growth of business, and the fronts of Fleet street have been peeled off by eminent beauty specialists.

The Strand under its various names contains most of the news paper offices of London, most of the lawyers and all of the law, the most exciting theatres and hotels of the city and places where umbrellas can be bought for fifty cents. It varies in age from 800 years to yesterday.

A hundred kings have passed along its winding way and seven hundred years ago the traffic police held up knights in armor instead of taxicabs while pedestrians passed over. The most impressive buildings on the Strand are the Law Courts and the Gaiety theatre, and both the Crinades and Florodora began their existence on this street.

The Strand has no skyscrapers, and isn't as handsome as Fifth Avenue. It looks as if it needed a bath, and its sidewalks are as narrow as those of Podunk by the creek. But it has one feature which makes all Americans homesick when they look at it. It has an enormous vacant lot covered with sign boards. This lot is worth so much that no one has had the nerve to build on it as yet, but some day an American five and ten cent store will discover it, and the Strand will have a building boom.

ALBANY

Albany, Feb. 2.—The ground-hog surely did not see his shadow today as we had the biggest snow-storm of the season about six inches of snow falling.

Mr. Jos. La Valliere spent Friday night and Saturday in Chicago.

Mr. August Meulow went to Beloit this morning to get about twelve head of horses that he and Frank Barton bought last week at Merango.

Mrs. Elwin Porterfield and son of Columbia, City, Ind., came Thursday night for a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Atherton.

Old Mr. Barton received the silver cup Saturday night at the medicine show, he being the oldest man present.

The condition of Mr. Frank Howard remains about the same, Mrs. Fred Burt is going nicely.

Mrs. Hannah Flint visited in Brodhead Thursday and Friday of last week.

The remains of Mrs. Emily Peebles who died in Minneapolis were brought here last Thursday and interment was made in the Albany cemetery.

Harry Mathews of Milwaukee spent Thursday here with his father and sister.

WHY GRIP IS DANGEROUS.

It is an Epidemic Catarrhal Fever Caused by a Bacillus that Generally Leaves the Patient Weak After the Acute Stage has Passed.

Grip Patients Grateful to Peruna, the Expectant Tonic

Do not make the error of regarding grip as an exaggerated cold. There is a big difference between the two. Grip is an epidemic disease that poisons the vital organs. When a person has grip, the air passages are alive with millions of bacilli poisoning the blood. The infected person feels tired and exhausted.

It requires a good tonic laxative to keep the body of the patient as strong as possible to counteract the effect of the poisons created by the grip bacillus. An expectant tonic with some laxative qualities is the safest remedy. Such is Peruna. Beware especially of coal tar powders or tablets because they lessen the vitality of the patient.

There is no specific for the grip. Peruna has been used with good success in former grip epidemics. Indications point to the return of grip this winter.

Do not fail to read the experience of former grip patients with Peruna.

Our Lawmakers Are Finding a Flareback In the Income Tax Law—A Job for the Sergeant-At Arms.

THE price of "single blessedness" is going up! The Income Tax Section of the Underwood Tariff Bill, passed late in the preceding session of Congress, provides that a single man's income is exempt to $3,000 a year, while a married man can legally dodge the assessor up to $4,000 yearly. Taking the Congressional salary of $7,500 as a basis this law compels the "unattached" legislator to pay one per cent of $4,500 whereas the contemporary of the wife and family "loosens up" on $3,400.

Father-families think he should have more of a bonus than one solitary thousand and the widower with numerous offspring sees no reason why he should be classed as a "bachelor." So a veritable teapot tempest is brewing among the bachelor, widower and divorced "eligibles" of the country.

A Most Unpleasant Task.

So, it can be seen that lady suffragists are not creating all the furor over being "adjusted" and discriminated against. And, to make the situation up-on-the-hill even more interesting, that Income Tax Section further stipulates that said income is to be taxed "at its source!" Judges in alimony hearings, who have endeavored to get on the trail of the assets of professional men, can picture the gleeful jobs ahead of the collectors who have to extract this one per cent from the revenues of politicians.

On bonds the banks will act as collectors for "the thing which is Caesar's" but it appears that the Sergeant-at-Arms of House and Senate, will be required to deduct the estimated amounts from Congressmen's salaries, by the year or session, as the latter see fit to pay it, for, of course none of them would be so picaresque as to pay it in monthly installments.

Getting a Member's Status.

One of the assistants in this office on "the House side" greeted inquiries as to the modus operandi for collecting that one per cent with urchinlike chuckles.

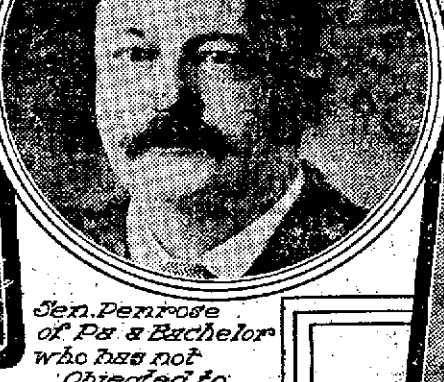

"Imagine the fun," he said, "when a man who has not troubled to describe himself in the directory as married or by any of those hieroglyphics opposite all names for the private galleries, is held up on pay day with the polite query 'Are you unmarried or just living apart from your wife? Not for mine! I would much rather be a spectator.' So, probably, would the Sergeant-at-Arms."

A peculiar phase of this Tax is that it is put into effect when there are

The Congressman and the Income TAX

Rep. Payne of New York, a distinguished widower and statesman.

Sen. Penrose of Pa. a bachelor who has not objected to the tax.

Sen. Brandegee of Connecticut, well known for his bachelorhood as for his politics.

Rep. Bird McGuire of Oklahoma, classified as a newlywed.

quite an exceptional percentage of single men in Congress.

Elsewhere the same number of masculines, who have either kept to the "single" road or returned to it through death or divorce, would have to be regarded as quite insignificant but politicians, like ministers, find that it helps their business to be wedded. The bachelor campaigner who goes through his district always stands high in popularity with the women of it, but it has been invariably the man of family who commanded most respect from the horny handed son of toil.

Fair Showing of Eligibles.

One can conjecture that in the Suffrage States the non-Benedict will have the advantage in future elections.

However, that may be, the roster of bachelors, widowers and of those whose marital status is not given, is quite lengthy for a political assemblage.

The widowers run the bachelors a close second with the few "others" in a moderate sized bunch at the end. What would be the status of a Congressman whose wife lives in Europe while he is busy helping steer the ship of State this side the pond, only some of the skilled disciples of Income Tax requirements will be able to answer.

Such questions as "are you divorced?" "Have you ever been married?" will undoubtedly have to be presented to any about whom the collector at the capitol is in doubt. Luckily for his mental balance there are many Senators and Members of the Lower House who just let their salaries pile up and collect them in a lump, at either the end of the session or of the term!

Some of those who come under the bachelor Tax give amusing reasons for being willing to continue subject to that "fine."

Senator "Mark" Smith, of Arizona, can always be depended upon to give a characteristic explanation of anything. Apropos of his bachelorhood he declared in all seriousness that "no lady ever asked me to marry her and I never had the temerity to ask one to share life with me"—which, getting abroad, may enable the Senator from "the country God forgot," to dodge that one per cent after all.

Rep. Henry D. Flood, of Virginia, who is chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House, owner of a splendid old plantation home down at Appomattox Courthouse, Virginia, where he maintains as many "cabins" and overseers as did his people, before the War, has long been regarded as an especially eligible member of the unmarried contingent; but, frequent, undenied, newspaper announcements of his engagement to a Washington belle make it appear that he intends basely deserting his colleagues and joining the element which is exempt to $4,500.

Some of the Newlyweds.

At least he is not alone in this abdicating as the past session, as well as that preceding, saw several presumably "set" unmarried men go over to the fetters of what a Congressional wit has termed "the double life." These marriages have been prolific in romance, too, as in the case of Rep. Clyde Tavenner. He was a clerk in the Sergeant-at-Arms' office who thought far ahead of his job. Quitting the certainty of its monthly pay for the uncertainties of a political campaign, he persuaded a fair young Congresswoman, stenographer to also balance her future chances as a private secretary, against those of being the wife of a Representative. It is said that she helped with his speeches, "took down" what was valuable for later use and together they "made it" and are now back in Washington.

The Hon. Bird S. McGuire, of Oklahoma, is also a newlywed and his courtship and marriage teemed with unusual romance. The internal revenues of the country lost interest on an additional two thousand dollars per annum when R. J. P. E. Quin of Mississippi, and Clarence Miller of Minnesota recently went over to the Benedicts, though far be it from this writer to insinuate that they did so from any motives of economy!

While less extensively represented by bridegrooms, as befits a more august body, the United States Senate came into the matrimonial limelight during the past session by one of the most unusual weddings that has ever occurred in the Congressional annals. Senator Thomas B. Catron had long been given up by ambitious "buds" and manoeuvring older girls when he suddenly, last summer, met a visiting maiden, proposed, was accepted and

Many Eligibles in Both Houses—No Allowances Made for Divorces—Senate's Well-Known Bachelors.

Neither may any deduction be made until $3,000 shall have been paid to each bachelor and an additional thousand to each husband. Mr. Speer explaining that a legislator might die before he had received his entire exemption and after having "already been taxed in full. So that does away with the prospect of "taking something out of the envelope" every day as is being anticipated up on Capitol hill.

The literal reading of the Section in the Tariff Bill, as given by the Internal Revenue official, is that a married man is one who isn't legally separated from his wife—it being advanced, as fair, that if he and his other-half have merely "agreed to disagree," without any Court proceedings, that he is still married, but this last has not been definitely decided.

In any event, where a Congressman files his personal return in his native town, or the District from which he is elected, the tax is to be "extracted" by the collector at the place where the M. C. has his permanent residence. Such a one files a claim for exemption at the Capitol so that he is not "doctored" twice on the same income.

No Allowances For Divorces.

The truly woeful feature of this income tax—and this does not apply to Congressmen especially—to masculines who have been through the expense and publicity of divorce and are paying alimony, is that they will not be permitted to include any part of it as exclusive of assets! Or rather, it will not be exempt from taxation. And maybe that isn't adding insult to injury!

The crop of Congressional widowers is so small as to suggest that politicians must make better husbands than do farmers of the land—among whom the wife mortality rate is Governmentally alluded to as being so great. Only a dozen are regularly listed, although there may be others, not known of.

The Senate has a quartet of well-known bachelors—Penrose, of Pennsylvania; Brandegee, of Connecticut; Burton, of Ohio, and the already mentioned, "Mark" Smith, of Arizona.

Considering that a Congressional bachelor only pays $45.00 and a married Member $35.00 a year—just about what each would probably pay, respectively, for a suit of clothes—it does not appear after all that Mr. Underwood has wished any real hardship on his fellow men—but as to his fellow women—that's another story!

S. commissioner of education and established the public schools that are now nearest the North Pole. He is probably the best posted man in this country on Alaska and her natural resources. He crossed Alaska, 1,200 miles, in dead of winter with nothing but a dog team in quest of relief for sick, ice-imprisoned miners. The trail he blazed is now the route for the U. S. mails. He is known in all English-speaking countries as a lecturer of note.)

They to virtually become partners with the government, receiving their just share in the profits of their own coal mines.

Here is a program so progressive, so just, so free from all criticism, except from the Quagmire and those who have selfish interests at stake, that it ought to appeal to every right thinking American citizen.

In California there is no coal. Housewives pay $12 a ton for soft coal imported from Australia. This means two unchallengeable facts: a high cost of living and an impossibility for manufacturers to compete with Japan and Germany.

Give the Pacific coast cheap coal, the coal God intended she should use, which now is waiting to be mined in a contiguous territory and immediately the high cost of living drops all over the west, cheap steam will make manufacturing possible; and honest work can be given the vast army of men who today are huddled in relief camps crying for work and for bread, from Seattle to San Diego.

STATE DEATH RATE STAYS AT AVERAGE

Mortality Figures for Last Quarter of 1913 Show Little Change, Remaining at 10.5.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—The Wisconsin death rate for October, November and December, 1913, is 10.5 per thousand. This is revealed by statistics showing 6,321 deaths reported to the state board of health by local registrars during the last quarter of the year. The rate compares with 10.8 per thousand for 1908, 10.9 for 1909, 11.2 for 1910, 10.1 for 1911, and 10.3 for 1912. The death rate for the fourth quarter of 1913 represents a fair average for the five year period, and is slightly lower than that for any of the preceding years since the enactment of the uniform law, with the exception of 1910 and 1911.

Infant Mortality Higher.

There is a slight increase in deaths of persons under one year of age and also for the age grouping from one to four years. There is a decline of 7.0 in the number of deaths among persons 65 years of age and over.

Reports for the fourth quarter of 1913 show there is a decrease of 170 in number of deaths over the corresponding period of 1912. Nearly one-half of this decrease can be accounted for by the decline in number of deaths among persons 55 years of age and over.

Important causes of death from each disease follows: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 437; other tuberculosis, 63; pneumonia, 548; meningitis, 75; typhoid fever, 47; diphtheria, 89; scarlet fever, 16; measles, 14; whooping cough, 10; enteritis under two years, 125; influenza, 15; puerperal septicemia, 12; cancer, 331; violence, 410; stillbirths, 402.

Tuberculosis Decreases.

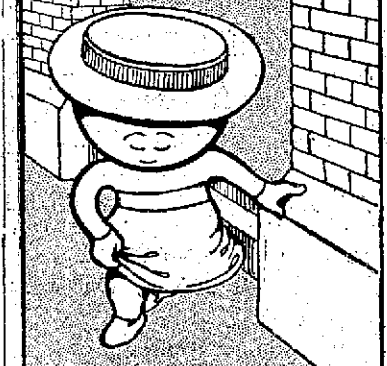

Compared with deaths in a similar period in 1912, there is a decrease in number from certain diseases as follows: Tuberculosis other than pulmonary, 14; typhoid fever, 26; diphtheria, 3; scarlet fever, 31; whooping cough, 13; pneumonia, 11; enteritis under two years, 25; meningitis, 14; influenza, 25; puerperal septicaemia, 1; cancer, 33; stillbirths, 30. There was an increase in deaths from the following diseases: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 15; measles, 5; violence, 7.

The northern section of the state has a death rate for this period of 9.2 per thousand; central counties, 10.2; southern section, 11.2.

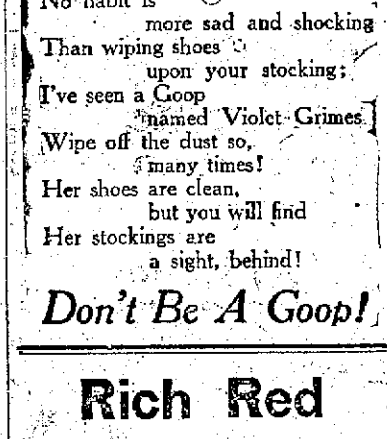

Deaths from violence are classified as follows: Suicides, 57; accidental gunshot wounds, 43; accidental drowning, 39; accidental burns and scalds, 31; railroad accidents, 56; street car accidents, 10; homicides, 7; electrocution, 6; automobiles, 12; machinery, 0; lightning, 2; horse vehicles and horses, 4. There were five deaths from tetanus, two from pellagra and five from anterior poliomyelitis.

Bishop Brent.

Right Rev. Charles H. Brent, Episcopal bishop of the Philippines and a chum of former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, is reported as soon to marry Mrs. Catherine Spencer, the wealthy widow of Lord Spencer, and at one time known as "the most beautiful woman in America." Mrs. Spencer recently went to the Philippines to act as a missionary.

A POSER.

Father—At your age, Willie, I never told an untruth. Willie—How old were you when you began then, father?

Rather a "Tall" Yarn.

Ralph of Coggeshall, an English abbot of the thirteenth century, told a staggering yarn: The Orford fishermen brought up one day in their nets a sea man who had no hair on his head, but a long ragged beard. Kept in Orford castle, he ate fish and meat both raw and cooked, but could not be made to speak. Yet, when the fishermen took him out one day for a swim, though he dived under the nets which they spread to prevent his escape and grinned derisively at them, he followed them back to land and captivity. At last, however, the "wild man" had had enough of it, managed to escape to sea and disappeared.

STUDENT WAITERS TAKE AN APPEAL TO GOVERNOR IN LABOR CONTROVERSY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—The case of the student waiters, kicked out of the university commons after a strike, grievances over working conditions was presented to Governor McGovern Tuesday afternoon by Clark H. Getts, president of the Wisconsin Student Workers' Union, and William Brockhausen of Milwaukee, of the executive committee. The governor promised to give their cause attention.

The boarders at the commons yesterday received return postal cards, signed by a student waiter named Evans, seeking their return to the dining hall under promise of good service. The union do not hesitate to attribute its source to the management of the commons. The cards say that the closing was brought about through misrepresentation of facts by the waiters, and add that the boarders ought to appreciate the opportunity to go to a good place to eat. In endeavoring to reopen the hall, the business manager is credited with a desire to wreck the union. New waiters will be hired.

Dr. H. G. Bumpus, business manager, refuses to recognize the union, and says he will have to be shown it is one.

ROAD WORKER ALLOWED INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE FOR INJURY BY RATTLESNAKE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Olympia, Wash., Feb. 4.—A country infested by rattlesnakes where road work is being done constitutes an industrial hazard and a workman bitten by a snake is entitled to compensation from the state industrial insurance fund, according to a ruling contained in a recent report of the State Industrial Insurance Commission. The decision today was formally made and entered in the case of a snake bitten workman. Since the country is inhabited by snakes, the Commission's report, "their presence constituted one of the hazards of the occupation of road building and we hereby grant the man's claim for the injury benefit."

TAX COMMISSIONER HEARS GRANT COUNTY COMPLAINTS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—Tax Commissioner T. E. Lyons will spend Friday and Saturday in Grant county, taking testimony upon complaint of the county board regarding the valuation of some of the towns. He will be in Dodgeville on Friday and in Lancaster on Saturday. The board expects to finish the valuation of the street car properties of the state this week.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A PLEA FOR THE UNLUCKY LUCKY FOLKS.

THE little girl across the way is fortunate enough to have a father who believes that a child needs two parents for its bringing up as well as its begetting. His wife does not have to be the modern father-mother, for her husband, instead of acting merely as a kind of walking pocket-book for the children, takes an active interest in their daily lives. He even likes to know about little Elizabeth's home lessons, and sometimes when she cannot master her sums he helps her with them, and thereby hangs my tale.

I said Elizabeth was fortunate to have a father who would help her with her sums, and so she is. Yet, there is a very big fly in the ointment. I'll let Elizabeth tell you about it as she told her mother and me. You see I happened to be calling there the day she brought home her report card. That momentous document contained a long desired "A" in arithmetic, besides several other excellent marks. Her mother was delighted, and Elizabeth was evidently on the verge of tears. A question or two and the storm broke. It doesn't do me any good to get an "A," sobbed Elizabeth, "all the girls say I ought to get high marks when father does all my sums for me and helps me with all my lessons."

"But he doesn't do your sums, dear," protested her mother indignantly, "he just helps you to find the way to do them once in a while when they are very hard."

"I know it," sobbed Elizabeth, "nobody believes that. Just because he was a school teacher once they say he does all my work for me."

As I listened to little Elizabeth's protest against the unjust judgment of the world, another occasion flashed into my mind. A group of people were discussing one of the young men of the neighborhood who had married the daughter of his employer.

"Pretty soft for him," said one. "You know he has been promoted right over the heads of older men and men who have been there three times as long as he," said another. "No wonder he flashes by in an automobile while the rest of us are still using shanks mare," commented a third.

Now, as it happens the young man in question is very brilliant, and stands head and shoulders above his critics. Of course it is impossible to say that he would have risen as rapidly if he had not been working for his father-in-law, but I think it is equally impossible to say that he would not. And yet, never in the world will he receive credit for his rise.

I know another man who actually refused to get the credit for his business on this account. "No matter what I do I'll never get the credit for it," he said, "I'd rather start out for myself and then people will know that whatever I accomplish I've won by my own ability and not by favor—and I'll enjoy it, too."

He eventually made emphatically good in another man's employ, and having proved his worth beyond cavil, entered into partnership with his father.

Little Elizabeth's experience is typical of the world's judgment. If a man has some advantage of circumstance over his fellow men, whatever success he may win is attributed to that advantage and none to his personal worth.

It is pleasant to have advantages, but, as Elizabeth found, advantages have their disadvantages. There is a fly in the ointment, and to one of a proud spirit it is sometimes a mighty big drawback.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Rust can be removed from steel by covering it with sweet oil for a day; then rub it with a lump of fresh lime and polish in the ordinary way.

To glaze linen and a fine cloth of salt and one of finely scraped soap to each pint of starch, in which it is dipped.

To insure bluing being evenly distributed in making the rinse water for clothes, add a little salt to it.

To give cauliflower a better flavor cook it in milk and water; it will also look whiter than when just cooked in water.

THE TABLE.—Two cups of flour, four teaspoonsful of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonsful of butter, and three-quarters cup of milk. Mix and sift, and gradually, using a knife for mixing, tips of fingers and add the milk gradually, using a knife to mix.

Toss on a floured board, pat and roll out to one-half inch thick. Shape with a biscuit cutter, first dipped in flour. Place closely together in a buttered steamer, put over kettle of boiling water, cover closely and steam twelve minutes.

A perforated tin plate may be used in place of a steamer. A little more milk may be taken up by spoonfuls, dropped and cooked on the top of the steamer. In this case, some of the liquid must be removed, so that the dumplings may rest on the meat and potato and not settle into the liquid.

Spinach—Pick over and wash one peck of spinach in boiling salted water twenty-five minutes. Drain and chop finely. Reheat in a hot pan with four tablespoonsful of flour and two-thirds cup of chicken stock. Season with one teaspoonful of powdered sugar, salt, pepper and a few gratings of nutmeg and lemon rind.

Large Mushrooms in Cream.—Wash twelve large mushrooms. Remove the stems and peel caps. Put in a shallow buttered pan, cap side up.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper and not over with butter; add two-thirds cup cream. Bake ten minutes in a hot oven. Place on pieces of dry towel and pour over them cream remaining in pan.

French Potato Croquettes.—Two cups of hot rice, potatoes, two tablespoonsful of butter, yolks of three eggs, one-half teaspoonful of salt, few grains of cayenne. Mix ingredients in order given and beat thoroughly. Shape in balls, the whites pointed at the ends. Roll in flour, mark in three places on the top of each with a knifeblade to represent a small French loaf. Fry in deep fat and drain on brown paper.

Fig Pudding.—Three ounces beef suet, one-half pound figs finely chopped, two and one-third cups of stale bread crumbs, one-half cup of milk, two eggs, one cup of sugar, three-quarters teaspoonful of salt. Chop the suet and work with the hands until creamy, then add the figs. Soak the bread crumbs in milk, add the egg well beaten, sugar and salt.

Put the mixture, turn into a buttered mould, steam three hours. Serve with yellow sauce.

Yellow Sauce.—Two eggs, one cup of powdered sugar, three tablespoonsful of wine. Beat the yolks of the eggs until thick, add one-half the sugar gradually, beat the whites of the eggs until stiff, add gradually the remaining sugar; combine the mixtures and add the wine.

EVERYDAY TALKS FOR EVERYDAY PEOPLE

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

"Own a hen and be independent" is hardly the joke it seems to be. With the price of eggs up to where one has almost to charter an aeroplane to reach them the owner of hens can surely congratulate himself.

That is, if the hens lay. Trouble is when eggs are the highest the stubborn Mrs. Hen decides to take a vacation and your dreams of sudden riches vanish into thin air just like most such dreams do.

A reader of this paper has given the following recipe and claims it will do what it claims to—make the hens lay. It is on account of the frozen ground in the winter months and the being shut up that causes the shrinkage in the egg supply. At least that is one of the reasons. The hens don't get exercise enough, nor enough lime to furnish the shell material. The recipe that is given is for just such cases.

Recipe.—Six quarts of boiling water, one pint granulated (not powdered) charcoal, one quart of alfalfa meal, two quarts of wheat bran, two quarts of unboltsed cornmeal, two and one-half cups of black pepper, boil ten minutes, stir well and when lukewarm feed to your hens. The charcoal is a very good preventative for cholera and the time is shell-forming.

This feed is to be given about ten in the morning, not for a feed, as hard feed such as corn and oats mixed is the better evening feed. Out in Oregon they have a hen that has laid three hundred and three eggs in one year; also five other hens with records of from two hundred and fifty-one to two hundred and ninety-one eggs to their credit. These are not "freak" hens and go far to show what care and attention will do in this line of work.

Is poultry raising just like any other work? Must we give thoughtful consideration to the methods employed if we would have success? People used to keep hens just to have a few chicken dinners for their own families, fresh eggs occasionally, and felt well repaid if they got small returns from their energy, time and money thus spent.

Tooth Talks

Every community spends a great deal of money each year to educate its children. This money is well spent as a child not educated has a very limited chance to become a power in any walk of life. The physical condition of a child has a great deal to do with its absorbing and retaining knowledge. Hence the physical aspect is of as great a value to a child and its parents as the other side. A great deal is said now days about improving the race physically, no doubt, it could stand a lot of improvement. Physically defective children are numerous and every thing that can be done to remove these different defects is certainly worthy of our attention.

A clean healthy mouth adds materially to the health problem. All our food and drink reach the system through the mouth and if this is in a diseased condition how can we avoid carrying disease germs into our stomachs, to be used for the food there surely ought not to be any doubt in any mind about such conditions adding to our health or injuring same.

In the city of Bridgeport, Conn., there has been established the first school for the training of women dental nurses or hygienists. These women will be trained especially for public school work.

Six professors in Yale University, two from the University of Pennsylvania, several professors, physicians and specialists from New York City, one man each from several other colleges and a number of dentists have agreed to donate their services for a year to get this school established.

and prove its value. Needless to say that these men are not going to spend all their time at the school, but will give lectures at different intervals. They are specialists in some branch of hygiene and are deeply interested in mouth hygiene. One can readily see that when such men have given their time and energy to establish this kind of a school that the most believe that a great deal of good will come of the venture.

This school is not expected to continue in operation more than one year. It is only to demonstrate the value and need of such schools all over the land. Those that are taking the course are to demonstrate to the world the value of such a course for school work. All the lectures are to be taken in shorthand so they can be made use of for other schools later on.

Milwaukee has a lady dentist as chief dental inspector for school children. Women are particularly adapted for this work and no doubt the time is not far distant when every city that claims any pretense of being up-to-date will have a dental hygienist as well as the regular nurses for school systems.

The state has a compulsory education law so that children will get some education even if some parents do not believe in it. The time is near at hand when the state will take a deeper interest in health problems for children. Physically defective children have a much harder time to get through school than they would were they not hampered with the defect. How can a child study while suffering with an ear ache, head ache, tooth ache or even a stomach ache. Try it yourself and be convinced.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

I AM surprised that intelligent men do not see the immense value of good cooking. It takes such pains to have costly houses and fine furniture, and yet sometimes neglect to bring home with them a good temper.

WHAT TO EAT.

Right living would eliminate a large per cent. of the ills of man. Overeating has been the cause of many ills and many deaths. To cut our food in half and multiply our exercise in the fresh air by two would unquestionably prolong our lives. Yet we go on eating food that is too rich, and too much of it, and we reap as we sow.

A soup, a salad, and the dinner is complete, says Savarin, one of the greatest authorities on dining; yet how many today would be satisfied with such a meal?

The chief value of soup made from broth or meat extracts is the toning the stomach for the heavier foods. When the nicely flavored thin soup gets into the stomach the gastric juice begins to flow; then when the heavy food follows the stomach is ready to take care of it. These thin broths of soups have little food value, but are great aids to digestion.

Heavy soups, like purées or cream soups, are of themselves a meal and with a simple salad and bread and butter make a most filling one.

Consomme is clear soup made from veal or beef. Bouillon is made from lean chopped beef. Use a quart of water to each pound of meat.

Bellevue bouillon is made from equal quantities of clear chicken broth and clam broth, seasoned with celery seed and pepper. Serve in cups with bouillon spoon.

Garnish the top of each cup with a spoonful of whipped cream.

Chowders are thick soups made from fish, oysters, clams or meat. One of the most wholesome and popular, as well as inexpensive, is

Codfish Chowder.—Cut in dice a quarter of a pound of fat salt pork, put it into a deep kettle and brown; add three sliced onions and stir until well colored; then add a half dozen potatoes sliced, and cover with boiling water. When the potatoes are tender add a quart of milk, a half pound of shredded codfish which has been soaked in water, and on each plate place a milk cracker which has been scalded with boiling water and drained. Season with salt, if needed, add a dash of red pepper, and serve piping hot. This makes a good dish for a cold winter night.

Fresh fish may be added, if so desired, but it should be put in to cook when the potatoes are added.

Nellie Maxwell.

Many Write of Joan.

Eighteen years ago a catalogue of works then existing was published under the title of "Bibliography of Works Relating to Joan of Arc." It contained 667 works of general biography, 849 that dealt with particular portions of the maid's life, 160 dramas and twenty-one operas, and the compiler stated that he could have included another 1,000 volumes.

A Winter Cough

A stubborn, annoying, depressing cough hangs on racks the body, weakens the lungs and often leads to serious results. The first dose of Dr. King's New Discovery gives relief. Henry D. Sanders, of Cavendish, Vt., was threatened with consumption, after having pneumonia. He writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery ought to be in every family; it is certainly the best of all medicines for coughs, colds or lung trouble." Good for children's coughs. Money back if not satisfied. Price 50c and $1.00. At all Druggists. People's Drug Co.

Women Worth While

By Selene Armstrong Harmon.

A rather entering apartment was a fine set of china, the Christ-which Senator and Mrs. William E. Borah, of Idaho, occupy in Washington is attracted immediately by an exquisite piece of Chinese embroidery. It is hung to advantage above a massive old mahogany pier table in the entrance hallway, its brilliant dragons, birds, and flowers standing out vividly upon a background of silver gray satin.

"That piece," explains Mrs. Borah, "was my Christmas gift from the Chinamen of Boise."

The caller in quest of a story immediately feels that one, and a mighty interesting one at that, lies behind this statement of Mrs. Borah's. She is urged to continue.

"Why, there's nothing to it," she says, "except that my husband and I have many real friends among the Chinamen of Boise. There are so many people in whose minds the man from China assumes only one role, that of the successful or unsuccessful laundryman who is the butt of every imaginable joke. They do not recognize him as a faithful and efficient servant, a loyal friend capable of undying gratitude, and often a pathetic alien in an alien land. I think our interest in the Chinamen of Boise began when we engaged a Chinese cook. He and all his friends began to come to us with their troubles. There were many occasions upon which Mr. Borah in his profession of law could be of some service to them."

The result of our friendly feeling for them is that each Christmas his wife have a quiet musical evening when they remember me with some tokening at home together.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of fourteen and have no mother and wish to ask you a few questions.

(1) I keep house for my father and brother and go to school. I also take music lessons and am in the eighth grade in school. Do you think I am far enough advanced? I am fourteen.

(2) Would a blue velvet dress be all right for a party?

(3) I am going to play piano in a school in an entertainment and would like to know if a pink dress with a marabou would be proper to wear? It is to be in the afternoon.

(4) I have real dark hair and very dark eyes and a fair skin. Do you think I am pretty? Many of my friends say I am the prettiest girl for blocks, which I do not believe.

Dear Mrs. Thompson, I often wish I knew you. You are always so kind to the boys and girls who write to you for advice. I am a daily reader and often have to cry when I read some of the answers, and when you say "Yes, my dear," I wish I had someone to love me. I know my father and brother love me with all their hearts, but they cannot take the place of mother.

Mother is dead, about two years and I long for her very much to come back to me. Many times I cry myself to sleep and think of her and how all my girl friends' mothers kiss them when they go to school and when they go to sleep.

(1) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(2) Yes, if it is simply and girlishly made.

(3) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(4) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(5) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(6) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(7) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(8) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(9) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(10) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(11) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(12) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(13) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(14) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(15) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(16) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(17) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(18) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(19) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(20) I think you are very well advanced and doing very well indeed for a little girl of fourteen.

(21) The pink silk with marabou would be very pretty.

(22) I presume you are pretty, my dear, if your friends say so, and you should be humbly thankful that the Lord favored you with beauty so that you might delight the eyes of others. Just keep your character beautiful and when the mere flesh and blood prettiness fades you will still be beautiful.

I wish I could take you in my arms, sweetheart, and pet you to your heart's content. A girl needs a mother's petting, and if your father ever brings another mother home for you I hope you will remember this and be very sweet to her and win her love. You must remember, too, that your father and brother miss your mother just as much as you do, though perhaps in a different way. So try and make up her loss to them just as much as you can.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I love a man who plays music in a picture show. He is not young. How could I get him to like me?

(2) My mother is not very good to me; she is very mean. What should I do to make her act good to me?

(3) He is probably married and wouldn't care a snap for anybody but his wife and babies; if he has any, my dear, wait until a man shows some interest in you before you decide that you are in love with him. It would be more modest.

(4) Have you tried being good to her? I notice that when daughters are good to their mothers, help them with their work and sing and laugh in the house, their mothers are seldom "mean." Your mother probably works too hard and would like a little love from her daughter. Almost every girl, at some time, thinks her mother doesn't treat her right. The trouble is usually because the girl doesn't understand her mother is too selfish to realize that mothers have feelings as well as young girls.

The Changing Age

Girls and boys from 14 to 19 years of age undergo physical changes which tax their strength to the utmost and the strain is always apparent from pale cheeks, colorless lips, and tired bodies—sometimes eruptions of the skin and the utter lack of the ambition and animation with which their younger years were filled.

Budding into womanhood and manhood, with the duties of school or business, demands concentrated nourishment which is readily convertible into red blood corpuscles, energy and strength, and the very best thing for this changing age is the medical nutrient in Scott's Emulsion—it possesses the rare blood-making properties of cod liver oil in a predigested form; hypophosphates for the nervous system, with the healing, smoothing qualities of pure glycerine.

Its nourishing force promotes assimilation, yields direct returns in abundant, red blood, fills hollow cheeks, tones the nerves, makes all good food do good, and does it in a natural easy manner.

The sustaining nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is so helpful to this changing age that it should never be neglected—every druggist has it.

ANNUAL REPORT OF COMMERCIAL CLUB'S SECRETARY GIVEN

What Has Been Accomplished During the Past Year by Local Organization.

Acting on a resolution presented at the annual meeting of the Commercial club, Monday evening, the report of Secretary Lane of that organization is reported below in full.

Since our last annual meeting our board of directors have held 35 noon meetings, and by the way paid for their own dinners. Many subjects concerning the welfare of our community have been discussed. Several resolutions were passed and sent to our representatives, both state and national, favoring bills, which were deemed to be of our interest and opposing those which seemed detrimental to our best interests. Mr. Parker represented the club at a conference in Washington called for the purpose of furthering the interest in improving Rock River and making it a navigable stream. This subject is a matter of great importance to the city of Janesville as water competition is a great help in establishing lower freight rates.

A great amount of interest was shown in our Mid-Winter Fair. We had exhibits from 280 farmers in Southern Wisconsin and had more exhibits of grains than displayed at our State Fair. Several professors from the university gave lectures during the week on subjects pertaining to scientific farming and farm management. This Mid-Winter fair does much to maintain the farmers' interest in our city and also has its educational feature for the farmer. Last year Rock County headed the list of the counties in Wisconsin in production and quality of many farm products.

At our meeting last year the question of an agricultural expert for Rock County was discussed. Later in the year President Pihl appointed a committee to take charge of this matter. After the board voted to guarantee $1,000 per year for two years the subject was presented to the county board for an appropriation of a like amount, this being necessary in order to secure state aid, and which the county board turned down. This subject should be revived again this year as there is no question but that the production of Rock County can be materially increased with the aid of expert. In this connection you will remember that the Janesville Gazette conducted a corn contest for the boys of Rock County, the result of which clearly demonstrated the possibility of increasing our production. In some cases the yield per acre was over 100 bushels, while the average for the state was only 36 bushels per acre. Your board of directors have voted to hold this contest in 1914 under the auspices of the Commercial club. The committee in charge are H. H. Bliss, chairman; Edward Amppohl and F. E. Lane.

A committee was also appointed to work with the committee of the 25,000 club regarding a location for the state fair. They visited Madison and entertained the committee from Madison in charge of the project when they visited Janesville and while our efforts were not successful it let people know that Janesville is on the map. Another matter which received attention was the question of securing are lights through the business section of our city. Mr. Amerpohl, chairman of the lighting committee, has the matter in charge. The matter has been presented to our city council but nothing has been developed.

The industrial committee has had many factory propositions during the year to consider and investigate. They are as follows:
H. A. Brown, Chicago, Ill.
H. Kreiner, South Milwaukee, Wis.
Thos. Hancock, Chicago, Ill.
Wisconsin Excavator Co., Racine, Wis.
Guarantee Machine Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.
Chas. H. Burgess & Sons, Janesville, Wis.
J. M. A. Rende, Cleveland, Ohio.
The H-B Specialty Co., Marinette, Wis.
Koerner Accumulator Industry, Chicago, Ill.
Arnold Dampter Co., Chicago, Ill.
Kegins Motor Truck Co., Racine, Wis.
M. G. Dussan, Toledo, Ohio.
Forkner Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.
Pfau Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee, Wis.
Russell Mfg. Co., Racine, Wis.
Russell Publishing Co., Chicago, Ill.
T. S. Wheel & Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.
J. Wessenthal, Chicago, Ill.
Port Dearborn Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Allen Motors Corp., Chicago, Ill.
The most important of which are the Allen Motors Corporation, Chicago, and the Ft. Dearborn Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.
After a careful and thorough investigation it was not deemed advisable to secure the institutions.
The committee in charge of the Ft. Dearborn Mfg. Co. is worthy of special mention. They worked hard on this proposition and succeeded in securing subscriptions to $71,000.00 stock in this company. After the investigation was completed a meeting of the subscribers was called at the city hall. The result of the investigation was submitted and the proposition was voted down.

Raising $71,000.00 in Janesville for a factory proposition has demonstrated that we can raise money for any manufacturing proposition that will stand a thorough investigation. It further shows, and I think of more importance, that any proposition not thoroughly investigated will not be put over through the efforts of this association.

Our membership committee are also entitled to much credit. Last year we had 192 members and today we have 156, and many more are being secured if you as members will all actively interest yourselves in the association and take it upon yourself to go after them. The more members we have, just so much greater will be the strength of our organization. Everyone can get out of the association if he will do something for it. A commercial association is not a machine for turning out benefits, and results obtained depend upon its members taking an active interest and working for the organization.

The retail division is stronger and better today than it ever has been in the history of the club. We now have 80 retail members and are working in perfect harmony for the interests of the retailers of Janesville. They are holding combined sales, giving shows, etc., and doing every thing possible to make Janesville the greatest trading center in Wisconsin, giving the purchaser every opportunity to obtain honest merchandise at good values and the largest stocks to select from.

Our credit and collection feature which was inaugurated a short time ago is something that no retailer should be without. I know of accounts five and six years old which have been collected through this association, and through the co-operation of the retailers the standard of credit for the city of Janesville will be raised and the person who does not pay his bills will have a pretty hard time obtaining credit.

Another thing which has saved thousands of dollars is the understanding regarding promissory advertising which I will read for you.

Whereas, the Commercial club of the city of Janesville has found it necessary to protect the business men of the city of Janesville from miscellaneous solicitations for funds and to form a board for passing upon the desirability and merit of the projects thus brought to the attention of the business men of said city; and Whereas, it is absolutely necessary to the formation and proper conduct of this clearing house, that the business men of said city act as a unit in the matter.

It is therefore now agreed by and between the following business men of the city of Janesville that they and each of them will refuse to contribute to any proposition of any kind or character, unless the same is in charge of said proposition shall first secure proper credentials from the Commercial club of the said city of Janesville, and by this agreement is meant to include all forms of solicitations and subscriptions of any kind or character, including the purchase of tickets, miscellaneous advertising and all and every one of the various plans now in use for obtaining money by public solicitation. We do hereby agree and agree between ourselves that we will not overstep or act outside of this agreement in any particular; for the reason that if this agreement is to be effective it must be lived up to and abided by, even to the smallest detail.

We and each of us do hereby bind our respective business houses to the proper performance of this agreement from the date thereof until such time as a majority of those signing shall themselves take different action.

This should not only apply to the retailer, but to every member of the Commercial club. All you have to do is to insist that the solicitor have the proper credentials from the association. Do not subscribe unless they have, if they have it is optional with you whether you give or not.

Our traffic department is constantly increasing in efficiency. Our tariff files are increasing through new publications and we are in a better position today to furnish you information than ever before. You are certainly aware that changes are taking place every day and with the decisions of the state and interstate commissions there is no small matter to keep up with it. On all rate changes, changes in classification, routing instructions, rules and regulations, and to inform our members. We have traced many statements, quoted hundreds of rates, checked freight bills for members using our service. We not only check our bills, but also all claims for overcharges, less and damage through the office. We keep a supply of the members' stationery on hand and write all letters pertaining to claims.

During the year we have entered 171 claims and our claim account for the 31 members using the service amounted to $2,244.14. The only reason it is not higher is because many have not used it. In addition we attempt to line up rates to Janesville which are the lowest.

We secured a Peoria basis on cotton bolls and twine from Janesville to Western points on the C. M. & St. P. and C. & N. W. railroads, and it will be up for consideration at the Western Trunk Line meeting in February 17th, for all lines in Western Trunk Line territory. This is a reduction of 10 cents per 100 pounds.

The following is a list of other rates published showing the old and new rate:

If you will refer your traffic problems to this office we can probably be of some assistance to you. The system of package cars inaugurated through our efforts are working splendidly and do much to facilitate the movement of less than carload freight.

In conclusion I wish to thank the members who have actively interested themselves in the organization and the splendid manner in which they assisted me in my work, and I hope that they will continue to be actively interested in our organization and that our membership will be materially increased during the ensuing year.

Drop into the office occasionally and learn more of what we have and what we are trying to do for our members and for the city of Janesville.

I thank you.

FIVE MINUTE CURE

IF STOMACH IS BAD

When "Pape's Diapiesin" reaches stomach all indigestion, Gas and Sourness disappears.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapiesin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, causes flatulency and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eruptions of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

at the opera house on Monday evening in honor of Miss Irene Trostrem. There was a large attendance, an exquisite lunch was served and a most enjoyable evening spent. The music was furnished by Leaver's Harp Orchestra of Beloit.

MOTHER! MOTHER! YOUR CROSS, SICK CHILD

NEEDS ONLY "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

If fretful, feverish, constipated, bilious or tongue coated give "fruit laxative" at once.

No matter what ails your child a laxative should be the first treatment given.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign your "little one's" stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in just a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless fruit laxative. Mothers who know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups. plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind.
